Case Study

'As a senior engineer with no formal training in management, I felt that the Mini-MBA would formally help me with a structured approach to strategic leadership. The online delivery worked really well, flexible, personalised, with lots of help and lots of humour. Back at work I have applied the key learnings, adding in a focus to develop management and employee resilience'

Andrew Campbell, Senior Engineer
Troup Bywaters + Anders, Belfast

'The Mini-MBA online course at the Leadership Institute was phenomenal. I loved the convenience, not having to travel or disappear for a week to study. The programme was fantastic, with excellent insights into strategy, financials and leadership. I have attended many courses around the world and this is the first one that really engages physically online and where you really meet people directly. Alanna and Greg were fantastic course directors and facilitated the group to encourage self awareness, self improvement and a different mindset. The Mini-MBA instills confidence, a real boost for going back into the workplace'
